CITY'S TAX RATE IS REDUCED 10C

Three Utilities Get Reduction In Taxable Values; Water Company Value For Taxing Is Placed at $95,000; Board Backs Down Sharply

Three utility companies in Cameron were given substantial reductions in taxable values on their property by Mayor Smith's City Board of Equalization.

The water company was given a slight raise in value but on the whole the utility companies were well favored in fixing the tax rolls for 1939.

Texas Power & Light Company was reduced $5,000, the value for 1939 being placed at $160,000. A notice had been mailed to the company here stating that it was the judgment of the Board of Equalization to fix its property values at $199,998. This figure was cut almost $40,000.00

The water company received notice that its rendition had been raised to $159,186. When the board concluded its work they had fixed the value of the water company at $95,000.00 or $64,186.00 less. The increase was only $10.000 over previous values.

The Community Natural Gas Company value was fixed at $70,000 or $3,500 less than the 1938 roll.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company was given a $7,500 reduction in their taxable values with the 1939 figure placed at $57,500.

A notice was mailed to the gas company proposing a valuation of $75,000 and a notice was mailed to the telephone company proposing a value of $65,000. The action of the Board of Equalization resulted in substantial reductions to the utilities with exception of the water company.

The total taxable values in the city of Cameron have been reduced approximately $31,000 over the previous 1938 roll.

Engineers paid by the city recently fixed the value of the Water Company properties at in excess of $171,000. The water company paid the engineering cost when the City called off its ten year crusade for ownership.

County Hikes Water Company Valuation But Keeps Figures Below City; Other Valuations Are Same As Tax Basis Made In 1938 Rolls

An increase of $14,150 in the taxable values of the Community Public Service Company, owners of the Cameron water system was made by the board of equalization for the county.

The 1939 value placed upon the water company is $81,000 or $14,000 less than the value placed by the city of Cameron. Commissioners' court had mailed out notices to the water company fixing a much higher value but reduced it when representatives appeared before the court.

The Texas Power & Light Company valuation was placed at $400,000 the same as 1938 and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is fixed at $65,000, also the same as 1938. The Lone Star Gas Company valuation was reduced from $36,410 to $31,660. This property embraces the distribution lines to the city limits. The Community Natural Gas Company operating in the city of Cameron was raised by the county from $39,710 to $44,460.

Commissioners' Court placed valuation on the railroad companies with no increase over the previous year. The Santa Fe is assessed $9,500 per mile; the Missouri Pacific, $9,000 per mile; and the Southern Pacific, $6,300 per mile.

Mother's Plea Disregarded As Son Who Wrecks Her Kitchen Is Released From Jail; Officers Show Leniency When Louis Meeks Sobers Up

Louie Meeks was in county jail today and back of his incarceration was an appeal from his mother to the officers to keep him in jail until he "rots." The kitchen at his mother's home in west Cameron was a shambles when officers reached the home Saturday afternoon. Food, dishes and cooking utensils were broken and scattered about the floor.

Deputy Sheriff Dan Gunn and Constable B. F. Bailey responding to a call arrested, Meeks at the home of his mother. As they prepared to leave to take him to jail she called them back to show what her son had done toward wrecking her kitchen. She led them to the kitchen and began to speak in Czech mingled with brief English. The officers asked the son what his mother was saying and he told them that she was requesting that the officers take him to jail and keep him.

Meeks said that he was drunk and did not know that he had wrecked his mother's kitchen. Lenient officers were faced with a problem here today as City Marshal Gene Smith declared war on habitual offenders, stating that he would not release anymore if arrested for drunkeness or other offenses until they had paid their fines or worked it out on the city streets.

• • •

Louie Meeks who wrecked his mother's kitchen in a drunken rampage Saturday is out of jail. His mother wanted him kept behind the bars so she could have a little peace around the home and so requested the officers.

Meeks was released by Constable B. F. Bailey without payment of his fine. He was given a little time in which to get the money. He was given the lowest possible fine of $1 and costs.

Old fines are hard to collect and often officials are imposed on by prisoners let out of jail without settlement. Meeks got off with light punshment but the average fine for such offenses.

Green & Boedeker to Move Back to Old Home Aug. 1

The most important development along Commercial Row this week is the announcement by Leland Green, Jr., of the Green & Boedeker firm that on August 1, the store will be moved back to its old location in the Chambers building across from the post office.

Contract was awarded last week for repairing this building which was badly damaged in a recent big fire. "We have mortgaged our future in bringing to the people of Central Texas the store of tomorrow," said Mr. Green in making this announcement. The people of this section are asked to look for the opening date The store is now located in the building owned by the Citizens National Bank formerly occupied by Lyon's Dry Goods Company.

MOSQUITOES KILL CHICKS

Cameron's annual Mosquito Festival was showing results today as a housewife reproted losing baby chicks. The mosquitoes bite the chiks about the head and eyes, killing them in a short time. The fly plague of 1939 will rank along with the more ominous events of history.

The case of Carl Tawater which was to be tried in district court here Wednesday was postponed to a future date.

Big Producer

Colorado Springs—S. E. Brogdon of Cameron was honored here tonight during the thirty-fifth annual dinner of Southwestern Life Club when President C. F. O'Donnell presented him with a substantial cash award for his continuous weekly production. Brogdon has been a continuous weekly producer of life insurance for ten years and thirty-two weeks.

ONLY ONE FARMER ATTENDS MEETING

Poor response to a notice sent out by the Chamber of Commerce to cantaloupe farmers for a meeting on June 14 to discuss a better market has caused the organization to abandon any further plan for this season, it was announced here today by manager W. F. Paden.

Only one farmer responded to the notice. Mr. Paden said that the Chamber is willing to assist the farmers in any way possible but cannot do so unless co-operation is forthcoming.

Whether the farmers were manifesting a lack of faith in the ability of the Chamber of Commerce to assist them cannot be ascertained Evidently, it was pointed out, they are not impressed by any effort to provide loading sheds when trucking facilities are available to them at their farm to dispose of the crop.

The packing shed has been advocated for many years, almost as long as efforts to get the railroad companies to surface their grade crossings, but so for nothing has been accomplished. Mr. Paden said that trucks from Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Kansas and many other sections of the United States have been in Milam county to truck out cantaloupes.

Mr. Paden says the melon has become an important crop in Milam county and they are better this year than for several years past. The The average price is from 60 to 75 cents per bushel and each truck load will average the farmer from $210 to $300.

After the reception, Colonel and Mrs. Garrison left by auto for a wedding trip to New York, Canana, and other interesting points.

Slashed With Knife Cannot Remember Who Attacked Him

Officers here today were unable to find out who had attacked Charlie Meyers of Ptttibone with a knife on Saturday night.

Meyers has declined to make a statement, although he was taken to his home from the hospital Sunday. Meyers staggered to the floor of the National Dance Hall Saturday night and collapsed. He had been badly lacerated with a knife and was very weak from loss of blood. The most severe wound was a knife slash across his right arm.

Officers said that the cutting did not occur at the National Hall but Meyers had arrived at the hall at 10:15 bleeding profusely, and collapsed in a faint on the floor. Sheriff Kennedy said that Meyers could not recall what had happened or where he had received his wounds.

Farmer Held for Observation After Complaint Filed By Family Here

Jesse Coley farmer in the North Elm community was placed in jail Wednesday by Deputy Sheriffs Dan Gunn and Clarence McCall. The officers said that Coley had attempted to run his family from their home and had driven his son away from his farm work.

Officers received a call and went to the Coley farm but did not find him at home. The following day another call came in and Deputy Sheriffs Dan Gunn and Clarence McCall returned to the farm and arrested Coley. He told the officers he had left the farm the previous day to attend an auction sale in Calvert. An examination will be held to ascertain if Coley is suffering mental disorder.

FINANCIAL FUTURE BRIGHT; DEBT LOW

Cameron's tax rate was reduced ten cents by the City Council at its meeting on Tuesday night.

The reduction will save the tax payers $3,285 this year. Due to the fact that there has been a national disregard for economy, the reduction is unusual because many cities throughout the United States have tried to match dollars with the Federal Government for public improvement with the result that debt has piled up on many communities.

The tax rate for 1939 will be $2.15 and the total valuation is $3,285,000 In addition to the tax reduction the valuation for the city has been reduced approximately $31,000 so that on the whole the tax payers will be saved approximately $4,000 in taxes this year.

When Mayor Charles C. Smith took office as mayor almost eight years ago, he abandoned the policy of previous councils of borrowing money for operating expenses, declining at that time to pledge the assets of the city to the banks. Mayor Smith has justified abundantly the policy he instituted then as shown by the recent financial statement of the city of Cameron. The city has more than $21,000 in balances in the depository and with the cooperation of members of the Council some of whom have looked forward to a reduction for several years and worked for it, the city is able to reduce the rate and to look into the future with bright prospects.

The City Council has made possible this reduction because the affairs of the city have been properly handled. Mayor Charles C. Smith has had the co-operation of the Board of Aldermen in all these economies. The vote to reduce the rate was unanimous. August Horstmann said this morning the Council had considerable cash on hand and in cutting the rate feels it should give back to the people all funds unnecessary to run the government.

Sam McDermott, chairman of the finance committee, has had in mind for a long time a reduction in the tax rate. He has opposed all unnecessary expenditures and the recent refusal of Mayor Smith and the Aldermen to call a bond election for a number of public improvements sought by the Chamber of Commerce along with the general policy to keep clear of matching dollars with the Federal Government, has resulted in this most favorable financial position of the city government.

Robert Taylor and Myrna Loy Teamed in "Lucky Night" Opening Here Sunday

Bringing a sensational new romantic-comedy team to the screen, "Lucky Night," co-starring Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor, is the outstanding attraction coming Sunday to the Cameron Theatre.

Hitherto portraying straight dramatic roles in films such as "Camille'," "Stand Up and Fight" and "The Crowd Roars," Robert Taylor, in this film presents himself for light comedy honors opposite the merry Myrna Loy who has already achieved distinction as a comedienne in such mirthful entertainments as the "Thin Man" series, "Libeled Lady" and "Double Wedding."

Taylor portrays the role of an out-of-luck playboy who meets Miss Loy on a park bench while both are looking for jobs. Myrna has fled from a fourth engagement to a man she didn't want to marry. The pair team forces, panhandle fifty cents, pyramid it into thousands by lucky playing, hit the night spots, get into tight spots and find, after their wild and "lucky night," that they-ve been married. Thereafter they face the serious business of life, leading to further hilarious complications, separation, and eventual reconciliation.

In the supporting cast is a picked list of funmakers, among whom are Joseph Allen, Henry O'Neil, Douglas Fowley, Bernard Nedell, Charles Lane, Bernardene Hayes, Gladys Blake, Marjorie Main, Edward Gargan, Irving Bacon and Oscar O'Shea.

Boy Scout Drowns

Homer Fulton, Jr., Boy Scout, encamped for a week on the Brazos River near Calvert was drowned late Friday.

In a practice swim he rode across the stream in a boat and when he attempted to swim to the shore, was overcome by the current and drowned. The body was rescued from the river after considerable difficulty. The prone pressure method of artificial respiration failed to revive Fulton.

Mrs. Fulton, the mother is, a niece of Mrs. Tennie Boykin of Ben Arnold. Other relatives here and at Ben Arnold plan to attend the funeral Saturday afternoon in Calvert.

Passing School Bus Costs Man Fine In County Court

C. N. Payne of Cameron entered a plea of guilt in county court this morning to charges of violating the state law against passing school busses while they are stopped to let passengers on and off.

Charges were brought by Bob Bolton, driver of a Sharp school bus. Payne was fined ten dollars and costs.

J. D. Davis and Dan Tyson attended the closing of the 46th Legislature in Austin Wednesday.

Gause Citizens Like Herald's Editorial; Become Readers

Showing their appreciation of an editorial published in the Cameron Herald recently advocating a new bridge across Little River at the Faubian ranch, citizens of Gause have made a substantial contribution to an increasing reader list in that section.

So far as the records show at the Herald office this is the first substantial gesture ever made by a community to show consideration for the publishers who from time to time are called upon to perform public duty. Subscriptions totaling 30 and mainly for two years each have been sent to the Herald from citizens of Gause, three of these subscriptions arriving at the office today, sent in by L. S. Cunningham who last week was reported along with other members of a committee, handing in 27.

Businessmen and land owners at Gause will soon have their trade restored because the commmissioners' court is going to build the bridge, the have been assured.

Publishers of the Herald greatly appreciate this manifestation of gratitude and are proud of the small part played in the successful termination of a long standing plea by the good people of the Gause section who have so long been denied their rights in the matter of a bridge across Little River.

CAMERON THEATRE

HOLLYWOOD CLOSE-UPS by HOPE HARROLD

Special Correspondent for
THE CAMERON HERALD

Let's take a peek into the "Private Life of Shirley Temple."

She is up at 6:30, bathes and dresses herself. She can now take care of her own buttons except "in the back and far down." Her first appointment of the day is with the animals. "Come, Chingie," she cails, and flies out the door with the little Peke at her heels Rowdy, the spaniel; Corky, the Scottie, and Spunky, the pony, have their own roomy preserves out doors. When they hear Shirley coming, there is a wild clamor, eager as they are for their morning romp. Breakfast is at 7:15 with all the family gathered round the table, where Shirley always holds her own with her brothers' teasing. At 8:15 she takes a ballet lesson, which combines aestheics with exercise.

* * *

Then, off with her mother to the studio for school whether she is working or not. (Shirely's last published salary was $110,256, her mother, $52,166, for working on the set with Shirley.) Off a picture, Shirley studies from 9:30 to 12:30. On a picture, shooting and lessons must be dovetailed, with the stipulation that all school work is to be finished by four.

* * *

After school she has lunch, either in the studio cafe, or in her bungalow on the lot. Three times a week she takes lessons in French, three times a week in music. Occasionally, Mrs. Temple takes her shopping in the afternoon. Shirley loves to shop.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

Mostly, however, she spends her afternoons, playing at home. Her close friend and stand-in, Mary Lou, often joins her. They read aloud to each other. (Shirley likes Westerns best of all. She is now writing a "t'rific" Western, which she enjoys because she can use slang.) They play badminton or archery or baseball. In warm weather they swim. Or they will go in doors and have a tea-party in the red-and-white play room. The play room is lined with cases of toys and dolls.

Before dinner, Shirley listens to "The Lone Ranger" or "Gang Busers." The more bloodcurdling a program, the better. She has dinner with the family and goes upstairs at about a quarter to eight. While her mother curls her hair, Shirley knits, and listens to her father read to her. Lights out at 8:30, and tomorrow's another happy day.

Hollywood has a new hobby to parallel that of the book and stamp collectors. The hobby is that of collecting stills—publicity photographs of motion pitcure stars and scenes that were originally made to publicize the work and personalities of the studios. These collectors buy, sell, exchange, mount, file and index their stills just as though they were butterfies. At first stills could be bought ten stills for a cent. Recently, a collection of some forty stills from "Birth of a Nation" sold for $100. Any still made before 1920 is a rare item. The best sources for stills are not the studio vaults, but oddly enough, the second-hand shops, where collectors rummage hoping to experience the supreme joy of finding a priceless early Mary Pickford or William S. Hart.

Mothers who have endured the back-yard maneuverings of G-Men, and the "ride-em-cowboy Hi Yo Silver!" will soon be hearing an ear-splitting Yaa-oooo-eeee! when "Tarzan" returns to the screen again. Johnny Weismuller is rated as the No. 1 man to get the role. It would be bad if he didn't after we have endured that long hair cut all this time.

CITY MARSHAL DECLARES HE WILL KEEP 'EM IN JAIL UNTIL FINE PAID BY MONEY OR WORK

A white man and a negro are in the Milam county jail on charges of drunkeness and will not be released until they pay their fines or work it out on the streets, said Gene Smith, City Marshal, this morning.

"I am tired of releasing people from jail who never pay their fines. Hereafter they either pay or work it out on the streets. There has been too much soft-hearted dealing with habitual offenders in the past and I propose from here on that the law will be better respected." Mr. Smith when asked regarding this statement said that officers often times desire to be kind to people who get ino trouble but that too many are unappreciative and after they are released from jail, no fines are ever collected.

DOCK HAS BIRTHDAY

Dock Smith, German police dog and Deputy City Marshal, spent a quiet day yesterday. He is ten years old. Being modest he said nothing about these busy ten years he has closely followed Gene Smith, City Marshal, his owner. Occasionally Dock captures a prisoner who attempts escape. He always gets his man. Resting quietly this morning on the side walk in front of The Herald building, Dock was asked about his birthday. "What's a birthday in the life of a dog? Folks treat me good every day. Everybody knows me; they pat me on the head and inquire after my health, so I sleep a great deal in day time and guard the town at night. I wish the city would do something about these flies. That's about all bothers me. Ho, hum, well I must see about Gene. He runs off from me when I go to sleep but I can spot his car plum across town. The country dogs will be here today. Some of them are pretty tough. After all a town dog soon learns to be discreet."

Editor Bill Cooke of Rockdale Reporter and Mrs. Cooke, were here Friday for the T. A. Howell funeral. Among others from the Regal City were Postmaster John E. Cooke and W. E. White.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father" (John 14:12.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scripture by Mary Eddy Baker. "The Principle of divine metaphysics is God; the practice of divine metaphysics is the utilization of the power of Truth over error; its rules demonstrate its Science" (page 111.)
